

THE KEEPSAKE PAGE

This Book Belongs to a Family

Some gifts are used up. This one is meant to be handed on.

Write your names here, and the date, so that whoever holds this book after you knows whose hands it passed through, and whose story they are keeping. Slip this sheet inside the cover, or copy what you write here onto the page at the front of the book itself.

A MESSAGE, FOR THE ONE WHO COMES NEXT

Two small pieces of advice, from the last page of the book. Do not wait for an anniversary. And write it down badly rather than not at all: a page of plain sentences outlives every intention to do it properly later.
